

Discovering jobs online

Many jobs are advertised only on the internet these days, as it is quick and easy for both the employer and client. Search for company specific websites or recruitment websites.

To make the most out of your internet job search experience, follow these tips:

- Make your job search targeted. Research company websites that you wish to work for and check their 'careers' or 'work for us' pages.
- 'Google' jobs in your chosen industry or role to find leads to companies you may not have thought of.
- Set up your profile on recruitment sites including Seek, CareerOne, MyCareer and search for industry specific recruitment companies.
- Beware of false opportunities, do your research on any job you are applying for online, and be extremely wary of any recruitment company that wants money handed over to register.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Some companies advertise their vacancies online through LinkedIn and Facebook. Subscribe to your employers of interest. Be sure to keep your profiles professional, set up a separate page if necessary.

For more information about writing a cover letter and other useful resources visit konektempoyment.com.au

Recruitment and Job Search Sites:

www.jobsearch.gov.au

www.careerone.com.au

www.adzuna.com.au

www.randstad.com.au

www.kellyservices.com.au

www.jobserve.com.au

www.bluecollar.com.au

www.linkme.com.au

www.jora.com.au

www.jobsearch.com.au

www.seek.com.au

www.applynow.com.au

www.employe.com

www.australianapprenticeships.gov.au